

In case of a suspected breach, should the PCI Security Standards Council be contacted directly?

PCI SSC FAQ | Article 1009 | April 2012

No. In the event of a suspected account security breach, the business entity should follow existing, brand-specific processes and procedures for notifying the affected payment brand(s) and law enforcement officials.

Source: <https://www.pcisecuritystandards.org/faqs/1009/>